MONTH 31

I know the differences between things
I can follow the standard of living as you do at home Listen, I can tell you when I need a diaper change or have to go to the potty I can play now at the nursery without being afraid or thinking that you left me

I have learnt to control my temper by watching you

I can recognise pictures in books and match them to my toys

My imagination has become more active. I can pretend a building block can become a car
