MONTH 04

“I’m using and searching for my toys, and love your hugs and kisses”

I can hold my head steady, unsupported

My legs are strong and pushing down when I ‘stand’

When I’m on my tummy I will try and roll over to my back

My toys are great, I can shake them and swing at dangling ones

See my new trick I can bring hands to mouth

Look at me I can push myself up on my elbows

Do you love the sound of my babbling?

My babbling is me copying what I am hearing

You know my cries are different to show hunger, pain, or being tired

MONTH 04

Now I can let you know if I am happy or sad

I love to respond to your hugs & kisses

My new skill is I can reach a toy with one hand

My hands and eyes work as a team,
I see a toy and reach for it

Look at my eyes following moving things from side to side

Your faces are amazing to me so
I watch closely

Every day I recognize more familiar people and things at a distance
